

18 months after double hand transplant, kid is now in a position to jot down, and feed and get dressed himself independently

The arena's first double hand transplant in a kid has been a hit below moderately thought to be instances.